Surprise 'Customer'

Staff and workers at Appomattox Gulf Service Station, Route 460 West, had a new kind of "customer" Wednesday afternoon, May 20 – This six foot two inch black snake curled up in comfort inside the service station. They decided that this so-called "customer" would have to make room for motorists. In the photo: Hugh Bailey, Roger Willis, David Page, and Alton Lucado. Black snakes are "a farmer's friend. They are given credit for killing mice and other snakes so that a great number of people let them live in rural areas. Admittedly, it would be awkward to have a snake around a service station, however, and until someone opens up a snake farm somewhere, disposal of a live one has its problems.

Moore First In Mechanics

Frank W. Moore, an Appomattox County High School junior, has won first place in agricultural mechanics among members of the Future Farmers of America in Southside Area. Frank, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Frank Moore, Rt. 1, Appomattox.

Young Moore's work in agricultural mechanics was scored in comparision with that of applicants from fifteen Southside Virginia counties. The scoring was based on the quality and scope of the student's work in agricultural mechanics while enrolled in agricultural education.

Some of the items constructed by Frank are a farm trailer, two truck bodies and a feeder. He has made numerous repairs to farm machines and assists his father in maintaining the home farm equipment.

Frank's accomplishments will be considered along with those of other area winners for the state award. Announcement of the state winner will be made during the State FFA Convention at Blacksburg June 15-18.

Appomattox 1st In Forestry

The Appomattox Chapter of the Future Farmers of America has earned first place for overall work in forestry in the Southside Area. The accomplishments of the chapter will be considered for the state award which will be announced during the annual State FFA Convention at VPI June 15-18.

One hundred and forty - five of the one hundred and sixty members are carrying forestry as a part of their occupational experience programs. Labor income received by the students from forestry enterprises this year exceeded $45,000.

Payments Depend On Early Action

Appomattox County farmers who are taking part in the feed grain, wheat and cotton programs are being reminded that early compliance and early certification will mean early payments this year.

J. F. Alvis, Jr., Chairman of the Appomattox County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, said that while farmers should certify compliance as soon as possible they also must understand that acreage certifications are not to be made until they know they are in compliance with all program regulations.

When a participant in a 1970 farm program certifies compliance, he certifies acreage by acreages in the program crops and to diverted acreage. He also certifies that he has complied with conserving base provisions, with regulations that apply if he has an interest in more than one farm, that the diverted acres on his farm are devoted to an approved conserving use, and that all other program requirements have been met.

As soon as a program participant certifies, the County AS CS Office begins processing papers for his full payment for 1970 program participation. Payments to producers will begin soon after July 1 and are expected to be completed by the end of August -- the earliest date ever set for completion of program payments.

After a farm has been certified to be in compliance with farm programs, it may be checked at any time to determine if any errors were made in certification. If errors are found, the producer will be determined to have not fully complied and may lose some or all of his farm program payments.

A substantial number of farms in the county will be selected at random for these checks. Also, every farm in which an ASC Official has an interest will be checked.

had no influence on the yield, value, or price per CWT of the tobacco.

Tests with fire cured tobacco showed an increase in yield of 114 pounds per acre and an increase in value of $64 due to treatment with Mobilleaf.

Broadcast fertilizer versus fertilizer in the row using several methods of mixing was tested. More specifically, when comparing broadcast fertilizer plus 10% above the recommended amount and disc in before planting when compared to row placement of recommended amount plus 10%, the broadcast gave 103 extra pounds and brought more per acre.

Six tests involving the two main grades of fertilizer formulated for tobacco were conducted in 1969. Also regular and premium grades of each were used.

Premium grades usually sell at a higher price than regular goods and since the organic nitrogen must be transformed to the mineral form before the plant absorbs it, and since a general need for micronutrient in tobacco fertilizers has not been demonstrated, the additional costs for organic nitrogen and micronutrients cannot be justified at this time.
